

Attachment Regarding 34 a question of the I-129F Form

Our story began on July 1st, [redacted] at the restaurant called “_____” in [redacted] Croatia. I was vacation with my family in Europe. During the first week of my vacation me and my friend ([redacted]) decided to take a car and travel to another city to see our favorite singer [redacted]. Upon our arrival to [redacted], Croatia we booked the hotel and right after we decided to go and get something to eat as we were really hungry. The first place that we saw that was close to the hotel “_____” where we stayed was this little restaurant right across from our hotel. We weren't sure which restaurant to go to so we asked the guy who was standing right in front of the restaurant. He suggested us that the restaurant was great as it had everything from fast food to healthy food so we sat down. That was my first time seeing and meeting [redacted] “my fiancé. We immediately started talking about food and we laughed so much as the conversation didn't just stop there. We exchange the cellphone number and me and my friend left for the concert. Few hours later on I met again with [redacted] again right in front of the restaurant so that we can go and have a coffee and explore the beautiful city. We really enjoyed each other's conversation; it was so different and so special to me that I just couldn't believe. We had so much in common. The next few days we would hang out and then I had to leave back to my city where my family was. We continued to talk and then I decide to go back again to [redacted] for few days to see him and to spend quality time together as I knew I had to leave back home to California. After I arrived home we continued to talk and to text every single day. On December 13th, 2015, I decided to take a vacation and go back to Europe again for the holidays and to see [redacted] again. Upon my arrival he was waiting with a big smile and we spend every single day together. It was amazing, from the communication to everything we just got along so well. We decided to go on a vacation together to “[redacted]”, mountain to see some snow and to spend time together away from the city. He took me to one of the most beautiful restaurant for dinner and as I was almost done with my food, he took my hand and kissed me and then said I love you [redacted], will you marry me and then he just hold the box with ring. I couldn't even see anything in front but then I looked again into his eyes and then the ring and said “yes” I would love to marry you. It was one of the beautiful day one that I will never forget. I met and fell in love with love of my life. We continued to spend the next couple of days together and then again I had to leave back home back to my family, to my job, to my life without him. It was so hard to leave again but I knew deep down that we will see each other gain, and I hope really soon ....
